

Mosaics: Beauty from Brokenness

Each of us has experiences of brokenness. We likely also have stories of how that was redeemed into beauty. Our tendency is to focus on the pain and loss, ignoring the blessings. Here you are invited to honestly notice and acknowledge both, inviting the Holy Spirit, and the community, to journey with you toward wholeness. Receive and integrate both into your life as part of what has made you who you are. And trust that you are still on the way to the fullness of what you will be.

---

My Brokenness:

---

My Beauty:

---

Other things I want to notice, and perhaps to share:

---